

Executive Interview – The Scottish Investment Trust

 EDISON TV

Alasdair McKinnon
Manager, Scottish Investment Trust

Watch video >

The Scottish Investment Trust adopts a contrarian approach to investing in companies around the world, seeking to ignore the ‘madness of crowds’ and instead invest in deeply unloved areas of the stock market, where recovery potential has been overlooked by the majority of investors. It aims to reward shareholders with above-average returns over the long term and to achieve dividend growth ahead of UK inflation.

In this interview, Alasdair McKinnon, manager of The Scottish Investment Trust, explains what being a contrarian investor means in practice and how this is facilitated by being independent of any fund management group. He also highlights some of the out-of-favour areas of the global stock market where he is currently finding attractive investment opportunities.

Sarah Godfrey
Investment trusts analyst
Email: investmenttrusts@edisongroup.com
Tel: +44 (0) 20 3077 5700

Registered in England, no. 4794244. Registered Office: 280 High Holborn, London, WC1V 7EE UK.
Copyright 2019 all rights reserved Edison Investment Research Limited.
Authorised and Regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority.

Click here for the authorisations and regulations that apply to Edison